(22.3.2021-31.3.2021)

Co-ordinator

Mrs. Karuna Singh

Ms. Shivani Sharma

ABOUT THE COURSE

Learning disabilities are processing problems that are neurologically-based. These problems can interfere with the basic learning skills such as writing, reading, and/or math. They also seem to sometimes interfere with higher level skills like time planning, organization, abstract reasoning, attention and long or short term memory. This course aims at learner who can deal with kids struggling with their learning and empowering you to help them overcome their learning difficulties.

COURSE OBJECTIVES

On completion of the programme the students will develop:

- Understanding on the nature and importance of various disabilities.
- Skill to identify children with Learning Disabilities and assess their academics.
- Understanding the management of Children with Learning Disabilities theoretically and practically.
- Understanding on the importance of Rehabilitation of individuals with Learning Disabilities and develop skill for understanding learning disability
- The course gives emphasis to both theory and practical aspects. After completion of the course the students can perform as a remedial instructor.
- The programme is designing such a way that the candidate with required qualification can obtain the knowledge understanding and skills in the identification, assessment, and management of learning disabilities.

COURSE LEARNING OUTCOMES (CLO)

Upon completion of this course, individuals will be able to:

- Define specific learning disabilities in the content areas (reading, writing, mathematical, and processing disorders associated with all)
- Discriminate characteristics of the learning disabled
- Draw conclusions about the common misconceptions about the learning disabled and instructional methods
- Draw conclusions about motivational factors and the affective domain of learning disabled students
- Select and implement best practices associated with the learning disabled

PERFORMANCE OBJECTIVES

By the end of this course, participants will be able to:

- Define specific learning disabilities in the content areas of reading, math, writing, and the processing disorders that affect them.
- Identify misconceptions among educators regarding LD students and their learning capabilities.
- Give examples of what the best practices are to improve the learning environment for learning disabled students.
- Utilize the strategies presented to decrease the frustration level of LD students.

OR IN OTHER WORDS...

Individuals accessing and participating in this web based lesson on learning disabilities, will obtain a greater knowledge base of learning disabilities in the content areas of reading, writing, and mathematics, each affected by processing disorders, and gain strategies to improve their role as the teacher by demonstrating an increased level of awareness and sensitivity to learning disabled individuals, and applying this to their practices using the effective strategies presented.

Through this web based mini course, given study guides with in-depth text and audio visual references, the learners will adjust their perspective (and/or misconceptions they may have had or continue to have) about the learning disabled by utilizing strategies suggested in the course, by posting reflections in discussion areas, and answering questions posed using the best practices demonstrated within the context of the course.
